

Loro Piana

THE HIDDEN THREAD

A Cross Platform Social Rebrand for Loro Piana : Rooted in Heritage, Craft, and Accountability

Eyleen Min

Professor Afeef Nessouli

PMFM 5090

LORO PIANA & THE STRATEGIC INTENT

Who They Are

- Italian textile house turned RTW maison, owned by LVMH
- Quiet luxury benchmark – vicuña, baby cashmere, merino

Heritage & Innovation

- 1924 – mill founded in Quarona, Italy
- Supplied ateliers (YSL, Brioni, Hermes) before own RTW in 1985
- 1994 – Storm System® / Rain System® trademarked + exclusive vicuña deal
- 2013 – LVMH acquires 80% stake

The Hidden Thread

Making Loro Piana's hidden process visible across three platforms – without ever raising its voice

- Show the process
 - Fiber, mill, and hand
- Own the technology
 - Storm/Rain System as quiet innovation
- Name the source
 - Credit to the Andean communities

The Challenge

- A quiet brand, on high-visibility platforms
- 2024 Peru sourcing scrutiny still unaddressed

COMMUNITY, CRAFT & ACCOUNTABILITY

The Controversy

- 2024 Bloomberg Businessweek investigation in Lucanas, Peru
- Indigenous shearers reportedly underpaid or unpaid for chaccu labor
- Finished vicuña garments sell for $9,000+
- Raises fair-compensation questions across a 3 decade supply chain

The Partnership

- 1994 – exclusive agreement with Peru & Andean communities
- Vicuña sheared live, per CITES rules
- Through the chaccu – an Incan-era communal roundup, still practiced today

Strategic Response

- Treat accountability as a content pillar, not a crisis to bury
 - Name communities, show reinvestment, let the sources speak

3C'S ANALYSIS

Company

- LVMH backed heritage house (1924 → RTW maison)
- Raw-material exclusivity: vicuña, cashmere, Storm System®
- Logo-less, quiet luxury positioning

Customer

- Affluent, style-literate; craft over branding
- Digitally engaged, under-served by current content
- Increasingly attentive to sourcing ethics

Competitor

- The Row & Brunello Cucinelli
 - Closest quiet luxury peers
- Leans on design pedigree, not raw material story
- Whitespace: no one owns 'source-to-garment'

TARGET AUDIENCE

Demographics

- Age: 23–55, core 35-50
- NYC, LA, London, Milan, Shanghai
- Mostly womenswear, growing menswear outerwear

Psychographics

- Values understated wealth over logos
- Invests in longevity over trend cycles
- Conscious of sourcing ethics & material origin
- Already follows The Row, Toteme, and similar houses

BRAND VOICE & LANGUAGE

Tone

- Quietly confident, editorial
- Warm, precise, restrained
- Informative, never clinical

Messaging Style

- Sensory, process-driven language
- Leads with hands-free, provenance, craft
- Short, declarative sentences

Key Phrases

“The fiber has a story”

“Woven, not manufactured”

“Quiet by design”

“From the Andes to the atelier”

VISUAL DIRECTION & MOOD BOARD

- Warm, neutral palette inspired by natural fiber tones – macro texture over full outfit shots
- Andean landscapes and artisan hands alongside editorial styling
- Minimal typography, generous negative space, no logos in frame

CONTENT PILLARS & THEMES

01. HERITAGE & PROVENANCE

- The mill, the family, the century-long throughline

02. CRAFT IN MOTION

- Storm/Rain System as proof of quiet innovation

03. SOURCE & STEWARDSHIP

- The Andean partnership and visible accountability

04. QUIET LUXURY LIVING

- Garments styled lived-in, not just worn

MOCKUP 1 – REEL / TIKTOK

From Fiber to Fabric

- Before the garment, there is a relationship. Generations of artisans and Indigenous communities whose knowledge, care, and connection to the land shape some of the world's most precious fibers. A 15-second look at the people behind Loro Piana's vicuña and cashmere.
- KPIs: views, watch-thorough rate, saves
- #LoroPiana #TheHiddenThread #Craftsmanship #Heritage

MOCKUP 2 – STORY

GUESS THE FIBER

Think you know your fibers?

Could you tell vicuña from cashmere by touch alone?

Make your guess below.

We'll reveal the answer tomorrow and show you what to look for.

Story Poll

- Vicuña
- Cashmere

KPIs: poll participation rate, sticker taps, story replies

MOCKUP 3 — YOUTUBE

The Hidden Thread, On Film

Some things don't need to be loud. Since 1924, Loro Piana has built its world around a quieter kind of luxury, one rooted in exceptional fibers, careful sourcing, and pieces made to be lived in.

This short film looks back through the house archives to uncover the thread that connects it all.

KPIs: Watch time, subscriber growth, comment section

#LoroPiana #TheHiddenThread

A 3 TIER STORYTELLING FRAMEWORK

Tier 1 | Priority

Community Voices

The campaign's lead voice

Tier 2

Bridge Producers

Co-produce & Translate the story

Tier 3

Amplification

Extends reach – never fronts the campaign

Tier 1 – Vicuña Herding Communities, Lucanas & Ayacucho, Peru

- The lead voice – they tell their own story, in their own language
- Filmed & subtitled in Quechua/Spanish, with captions and alt text
- Linked to Loro Piana's Water Project & infrastructure commitments

Terms

- Paid separately from fiber payment – never 'exposure'
- Community holds final cut approval
- Disclosed revenue share on commercial use

KPIs

- Community reported satisfaction & trust
- Story reach into new audiences
- On-time disclosed payment record

Why this, not the existing footage:

- Loro Piana's own "Savoir-Faire: Vicuña" video is brand narrated; Bloomberg's 2-24 exposé is journalist controlled. Neither hands the community the mic, final cut, or pay for appearing.

INFLUENCER MARKETING STRATEGY

TIER 2

Tier 2 – Bridge Producers

Leyla Kazim

IG/TikTok: 146K

- Documentary pacing: filmed Andean weaving communities as subjects, not props
- Best positioned to co-produce and translate the community's story for a global audience
- Deliverables: 1 long-form video, 3 Stores, 1 recap carousel
- KPIs: watch time, saves, brand-lift survey

INFLUENCER MARKETING STRATEGY

TIER 3

Tier 3 – Amplification (after the community story is out)

Chloé Lloyd

IG/YouTube: 524K

- Earthy palettes; audience reads construction, not just outfits
- KPIs: engagement rate, referral traffic

Alex Ma

@alextwma IG/TikTok: 210K total

- Breaks down the hidden history & design details of garments – natural amplifier for the Heritage pillar
- KPIs: views, comment volume, brand-awareness lift

THANK YOU

References:

Brown, Rachel. “Loro Piana Celebrated Its Latest Collection in the Mountains of Aspen.” Vogue, June 20, 2024.
<https://www.vogue.com/slideshow/loro-piana-aspen-trip-2024>

Cernansky, Rachel. “What the Loro Piana Exposé Taught Us about Wildlife Conservation.” Vogue, May 9, 2024.
<https://www.vogue.com/article/lessons-on-wildlife-conservation-from-loro-piana-communities-livelihoods>

Cultured Magazine. “Is Loro Piana the Patron Saint of ‘If You Know, You Know’ Fashion?” December 19, 2024.
<https://www.culturedmag.com/article/2024/12/19/loro-piana-quiet-luxury-fashion/>

Moda Operandi. “The Row.” Moda Operandi. Accessed August 12, 2026. <https://www.modaoperandi.com/editorial/the-row-accessories>

Mr.Start. “Loro Piana Storm System™.” Mr.Start. Accessed August 12, 2026. <https://www.mr-start.com/blogs/welcome/loro-piana-the-luxury-italian-mill>

Private White V.C. “A Sense of Calm During the Storm: The Loro Piana® Raglan Raincoat.” Private White V.C. Journal. Accessed August 12, 2026. <https://www.privatewhitevc.com/blogs/journal/the-loro-piana-raincoat>

Robb Report. “What Goes into Your Favorite Loro Piana Jackets? Gob-Smackingly Pricey.” Robb Report. Accessed August 12, 2026.
<https://robbreport.com/style/fashion/slideshow/what-goes-into-your-favorite-loro-piana-jackets-gob-smacking-price-tag/on-the-range/>

Bloomberg. “LVMH, Loro Piana, and the Vicuña Sweater Supply Chain.” Bloomberg, 2024. <https://www.bloomberg.com/features/2024-lvmh-loro-piana-vicuna-sweater-labor>